EXCHANGES FISTICUFFS WITH A NEWSPAPER MAN.

It was Balley Who Struck the First Blow. but the Party of the Second Part Got in Some Good Clouts Too-The Rout Described by Both Participants.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas and W. Sinkler Manning, a member of the Washington staff of the New York Times, exchanged blows in a corridor of the Senate end of the Capitol just after the Senate adjourned this afternoon. There were two encounters between them in which Mr. Manning's umbrella was damaged.

Neither of the combatants suffered any serious or painful injury.

The clash between Senator Bailey and Mr. Manning was indirectly the outcome of an article on the tariff situation which appeared under a Washington date line in the New York Times of last Sunday. In that article it was said that Senator Aldrich, the Republican leader in the tariff debate, had a number of followers among the Democrats "who may faithfully be set down under the classification of 'Aldrich's men." and that "they are headed by that distinguished son of Texas, Joseph Weldon Bailey." Senator Bailey was accused of having taken a position on one fight or another that had played directly into Aldrich's hands." and it was said "that his action on the income tax amendments now pending is the latest demonstration of his willingness to help his Rhode Island leader out of a difficult situation." In the Senate this afternoon Mr. Bailey read that part of the Times article which referred to himself and in the course of a bitter speech said that the accusation against himself was "an infamous lie and its author an infamous liar." He acquitted any Republican Senator of having instigated the article and declared that no Republican Senator would associate with such a person as the man who wrote it.

Mr. Bailey is a master hand at invective, and he went the limit in his remarks. Mr. Manning, who had listened to Mr. Bailey in the press gallery, met Mr. Bailey as he was coming out of the Democratic cloakroom. Addressing Mr. Bailey Mr. Manning by way of introduction said that he was not the writer of the article in the Times but that he knew that it was not inspired by any Republican Senator. It was based, he eaid, on the attitude of Mr. Bailey in the Senate, and he pointed as an example to what had occurred in the Senate this afternoon when Mr. Bailey, as Mr. Manning expressed it, "split" the insurgent Republican vote which had been supporting the income tax proposition advocated by Mr. Bailey and nearly all

Up to this point the stories told by Mr. Balley and Mr. Manning agree. In fact there is little difference in the details told by each combatant. Mr. Bailey and Mr. Manning walked along the main corridor of the Senate wing without he had in the Senate. When they reached the end of the corridor, at a point in front of the entrance to the Finance Committee room and at the door of the private elevators for Senators, Mr. Manning made a remark which angered Mr. Bailey. According to Mr. Bailey Mr. Manning offended him by repeating that he had not "the honor" of writing the Times article, and according to Mr. Manning the trouble began after Mr. Manning had said that the criticism of Mr. Bailey of the Times article was based on "just such behavior as yours this afternoon

That Mr. Bailey struck the first blow s admitted by both men. Mr. Bailey told people who asked for details that he called Manning a liar and slapped his face. Mr. Manning's rememberance is that Mr. Bailey said: "Look here you!" and grasped him by the throat. There was a lively struggle. Mr. Bailey hugged Mr. Manning and Mr. Manning punched upward, delivering a short arm blow on Mr. Bailey's chin. Then Mr. Bailey grasped Mr. Manning's umbrella and struck at him with it lust at this moment Senator Moses R Clapp of Minnesota stepped out of the private elevator. With him was Tulio larrinaga, the Resident Commissioner of Porto Rico in Washington. Senator Clapp is large and powerful. He grasped Senator Bailey and pulled him backward A Capital policeman arrived on the scene right then and held Mr. Manning.

Mr. Manning's umbrella was bent and wisted. It had fallen to the floor, and as he picked it up he remarked half hilariusly for the benefit of Senator Bailey: You see that in attacking an unarmed man with this weapon you have spoiled a nice umbrella."

This remark infuriated Mr. Bailey. With an oath he sprang at Mr. Manning young fellow, well set up but much slighter and a little shorter than his opponent, struck out at the Texas Senator. Mr. Bailey clinched and Mr. Manning began striking upward as before. Senator Clapp and the Capitol policeman got busy again and succeeded in separating the combatants. The policeman asked Mr. Bailey if he wanted Mr. Manning arrested and he Texas Senator said he did not. After that Mr. Bailey went over to the Senate office building and Mr. Manning was escorted out of the Capitol by the police-

Mr. Bailey in describing the encounter said that Mr. Manning was moving away when he made the remark about the inumbrella which infuriated Mr. Balley. Of the second encounter Mr. Balley had a recollection of having held Mr. Manning's head with one hand while he pummelled with the other. Mr. Manning's account is that he was standing still when Mr. Bailey resumed the attack and that he (Mr. Manning) did most of the

Mr. Manning said this evening that he did not mean to be offensive when he poke of Mr. Balley's "behavior" in the Senate and that the word was not applied in the obnoxious way that Mr. Bailey construed it. He had spoken to Mr. Bailey, he said, about the latter's attack on the GOVERNOR HASKELL INDICTED HAS HIS "SHADOW" ARRESTED. TAFT QUITS A RACY PLAY SENATOR BAILEY IN A FIGHT Times article merely to assure Mr. Bailey that no Republican Senator had inspired the article. According to Mr. Manning and some people who witnessed the second encounter, Mr. Bailey used very emphatic oaths and vulgar colloquial expressions.

Whether any official notice of the affair will be taken by the Senate will not be known until to-morrow. Mr. Bailey said this evening that he would not make any complaint and that the matter was ended as far as he was concerned. Mr. Manning has no disposition to press a charge of assault against the Texas Senator. After the encounter he found a drop of blood on the back of his neck, but was otherwise uninjured.

Senator Bailey once assaulted Senator Beveridge of Indiana on the Senate floor. He struck at the Indiana man while the latter was seated at his desk. Other Senators prevented further hostilities. As the Senate had adjourned at the time no official notice was taken of the incident.

GEORGIA R. R. WILL HAUL MAIL Strikers and Management Make Conces sion to Uncle Sam.

ATLANTA, May 27.-There will be no Government intervention in the Georgia Railroad strike. An agreement was reached this afternoon by which mail cars will be run beginning at 7:30 o'clock to-morrow morning. One train will be run from Atlanta to Augusta, one from Augusta to Atlanta and one on each branch line, but no passengers or express will be carried.

This was the result of a conference to-day among Labor Commissioner Neill Supt. Terrell of the railway mail service, Assistant Grand Chief Burgess and General Manager Scott of the Georgia Railroad. Mr. Burgess was assured of Governmen protection for the engineers. Mr. Scott was willing to give this service and Vice-President Ball of the strikers said he was willing to furnish firemen if they were needed.

Otherwise the strike remains as at the beginning. It is evident that there are practically no grounds upon which arbitration can be based and it looks as if the strike would continue indefinitely.

General Manager Scott to-day asked Gov. Smith to issue a proclamation setting forth the incalculable injury done to the State by the strike and urging Georgians not to interfere. He also wanted Gov. Smith to call out troops if the proclamation failed and if that failed then to call upon the national

Gov. Smith said the proclamation was not necessary and refused. Then Scott refused to have anything to do with the arbitration committee suggested by Gov. Smith.

TO RING UP A BIG AIRSHIP. Dr. Owen Thinks the Vibration of Bells Will Overcome Force of Gravitation.

DETROIT, Mich., May 27 .- Dr. Orville exchanging any personalities, although formulator of the Baconian cipher key to and had five children, the youngest one Shakespeare's plays, and F.W. Henninger article in a manner more emphatic than former football star and present treasurer and manager of the Sheet Steel Stamping Company, are the chief stockholders in the Standard Aviator Company, incorporated yesterday.

The company proposes to raise the with a set of bells with which to produce the vibrations that, according to Dr. Owen's theories, create the force that overcomes gravity and lifts weight from the ground.

"We have been experimenting for two years," said Dr. Owen, "and we have a et of seven bells in the Sheet Steel Stampsplitting the Republican vote on the ing Company's shope from which we have secured vibrations sufficient to lift a mass of steel of twenty-two tons weight from the ground.

"We propose now, if we can raise the noney, to build a double deck airship, about eighty feet long and forty feet wide to be equipped with bells for lifting and machinery for propelling.

"Did you ever see a meadow lark leave the ground and go up seventy-five feet in the air in a straight line and then drop back without moving a wing? The lark does that by vibratory motion of the body That is just what we expect to do with our bell vibrations."

MUST ANSWER CHARGE OF TOWN LOT FRAUD CONSPIRACY.

Only One of Those Investigated by Federal Grand Jury Escapes Presentment -Haskell Says Indictment Was Forced and That He Is Innecent.

TULSA, Okla., May 27.-Indictments against Gov. Charles N. Haskell, F. B. Severs. W. R. Eaton, A. Z. English, W. T. Hutchings and C. B. Turner, prominent Moskogee business men, on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government in the scheduling of town lots in Muskogee eight years ago, were returned by the third Special Federal Jury to-night. Jesse Hill, the only other man under investigation and who was indicted at Muskogee in January, was not indicted. Bond was fixed at $5,000 each. Gov. Haskell is the only one of those under reported. His attorneys were present. Gov. Haskell to-night gave out the following statement:

"As a result of four Government attorneys and an army of secret service men surrounding the Grand Jury and limiting Arrest of His Chauffour for Recklessnes the testimony to just what suited them indictments have been secured again. I am thoroughly satisfied that when the whole facts are made known in the open the Government at Washington will not approve of these cases, which practically all the people of this locality know have no merit and that there had been no violation of the law in any particular "The later disclosures in this case will speak for themselves and show plainly the origin and intent connected with them. The only embarrassment to me in the trial of this case is that many witnesses must be brought from great distance and much other expense which unfortunately I have not the means to bear but my numerous friends in Oklahoma, including many Republicans, have generously shared the expense up to date, a kindness that I have since really appreclated and only regret the expense of future proceedings on that account."

Gov. Haskell will give bond before United States Commissioner Hyams tomorrow. It is understood that a motion to quash the indictments will be entered in the McAllister term of the Federal court next month.

Special Prosecutor Rush will leave for The finding of these indictments has created great excitement here and else where throughout the State. The general opinion has been all along that the in restigation would come to naught.

The maid asked her mistress what she meant, but Mrs. Friedmann laughed off the remark and a few moments later she went to the fourth floor, where she was seen by many school children crawling out upon a wide window ledge. Some of the pupils paused and watched Mrs. Friedmann's strange actions. She was seen to rise to her feet and after looking up and down the street she raised her arms and then plunged from the window.

A fire engine foreman on his way home in the afternoon passed the house where Mrs. Ella Friedman had jumped, and soon thereafter he killed himsel in the same way. He was Thomas J McCue of Engine Company 140, located at Prospect and Greenwood avenues. Flatbush. 'He lived with his wife and daughter at 131 Keap street. McCue got home at about 5:30 o'clock

"Did you see what happened to Mrs Friedman?" asked his wife. "Yes," said he, "I passed the crowd in front of the house on the way home and they told me what was the matter." He seemed to be a good deal depressed He hadn't been home long before he got up to leave. He took a Franklin avenue car and got off at Wallabout street. There is a row of six story tenement houses on Wallabout street, and into the one at 118 McCue went. He ran up to the roof. In the corner was a little girl, Margaret Metz, who was taking care of her twoyear-old brother. Man Whose Mind May Be Deranged Charged With Attempted Kidnapping. Guglielmo Denzio, 55 years old, was arrested at Sixth avenue and Eighth street last night charged with attempting to kidnap five-year-old Bertha Schmitt, whose father, Adolph Schmitt, has a bakery and lunch room at 87 Sixth avenue.

Denzio saw the little girl at play and taking her by the hand told her to come with him. He led her to a taxicab and put her inside. Then he told the driver te start, but the driver, noticing that the child was crying, called a policeman instead.

Densic lives with his son Adolph at 19 Jones street. The son told the police that his father had been acting queerly since the death of Mrs. Densic two weeks ago. Densic, the son said, made 2,000,000 france in the drug business in Maples and lost it all a few years ago at Monte Carlo. Then he came to this country and became a tailor.

Jeweller Goldsmith Tired of Being Trailed Around Town

As two taxicabs swing into Park avenue from Fifty-eighth street last evening Otto Goldsmith, a jeweller at 1284 Broadway, jumped out of the one shead and ran up to Policeman Miller. He said that he was being followed by a man in the second automobile and he wanted him arrested.

Miller stopped the second taxicab and a young man got out who said he was Herman Erde of 22 Lavonia street, Brook-At the East Fifty-first street station

Goldsmith said that Erde had been trailup if he persisted. Last night, Goldsmith said, he had dinner at Terrace Garden and as soon as he left in a taxicab he saw Erde jump into another.

Erde admitted that he had been follow ing the jeweller. He said that he was employed by Miss Edna Browning of 28 West Thirty-third street to watch Goldsmith and report to her what he did. He said that he was not a detective but a "mesinvestigation in the city, but he was not senger." Goldsmith said he knew Edna in the court room when the Grand Jury Erde was discharged in the night court by Magistrate Kernochan.

SAIL ABOVE STORM CLOUDS. Aeronauts Unable to See the Earth for Three Hours.

PITTAPIELD, Mass., May 27,-After three hours sailing above storm clouds the new balloon Springfield, christened in that city this afternoon, made a landing about 4:30 o'clock on Greylock Mountain near Cheshire.

In the basket with Leo Stevens, the pilot, were Charles R. Culver and Harlan r. Pierpont of Springfield and E. M. Sattler of Buffalo. It was raining in Springfield at the release and the balloon described the same course as that taken by the All-American last week when released from the same place. After drifting northward through rain clouds the aeronauts threw out ballast and rose above the clouds and found the atmosphere dry and warm. For three hours they drifted without a sight of land, dark rain clouds obscuring the land below. It was decided to make a landing at 4 o'clock. In its descent through the clouds the balloon met a downpour of rain which soaked the party to the skin. The drag rope caught in a tree and de-posited the balloonists in a forest on the east side of Greylook Mountain, the highest mountain in the State. The land was uninhabited and the aeronauts wandered about for a time before finding a road to cente Stunds by Aldrich on His Mether to Put the Question Over to June 10-The Coulities Falls-Cum and Balley Fall Out Over the Matter.

WARRISON, May 22 .- At the end of an exciting day of dehate the Senate late this afternoon adopted a motion to postpone the consideration of an income tax amendment until June 10. The amendment was offered by Separtor Balley, the foremost Democratic advocate of the income tax proposition, and the motion to postpane was made by Senator Aldrich, chairman of the Pinance Committee. The vote on the postponement motion marked an overwhelming victory for Mr. Aldrich and the regular Republican organization [1 served to emphasize the complete control NEW YORK SAILS FOR NEW YORK. of Mr. Akirich over the situation and was regarded by many Senators as the begins ning of the end of the tariff debate. Only six of the so-called insurgent Republipostponement. One Democrat, Mr. McEnery of Louisiana, voted with the majority.

The vote by which Senator Aldrich's motion was carried was 50 to 22. Throughout the day the regular Republican forces were triumphant and the faffure of the effort to form a coalition between the insurgents and the Democrate was made manifest. In connection with the postponement of the consideration of the income tax amendment Senator Aldrich gave notice that he would move another postponement on June 10 if the consideration of the tariff bill proper had not been completed by that time.

Senators Bristow, Borah, Clapp, La Follette, Cummins and Dolli ver were the only kepublicans who voted with the Democrats not to postpone the consideration of the income tax matter. Senators Beveridge, Brown, Bu Crawford, Dixon, Gamble and Nelson who have been aligned with the insuran Republicans, cast their lot with the regu-iar Republicans. In some quarters the effort is being made to show that the vote was not a real test of compe strength on the income tax pro It is contended that several of the radical Republicans who voted with the reg are really in favor of an income tax, but were unwilling to follow Senator Balley's lead to-day because he refused to shifts by an agreement he had made with Senator Cummins of Iowa by which the Democrats and the radical Republ would stick together in an effort to put an income tax provision into the tariff
